Exclusively Chartered Small Ship
Five-Star M.S. L’Austral

April 23 to May 1, 2016

Vassar Host: Molly Shanley,
the Margaret Stiles Halleck Professor of Political Science emerita
Dear Vassar Travelers,

I am delighted that Vassar has asked me to accompany an alumnae/i trip to France and England aboard the Five-Star small ship M.S. L'Austral. Each port on this wonderful itinerary reminds us of the shifting relationships between England and France that have contributed to shaping today’s Europe. We begin in Bordeaux, then visit both British and French islands and the coast of Normandy, and sail up the River Thames to dock beneath London’s Tower Bridge.

This itinerary invites us to think about the influences of trade, culture, military positioning and territorial rivalry in the relations between these two countries separated by the English Channel. Our journey together starts in Bordeaux, where Eleanor of Aquitaine married Louis VII of France (she later married Henry II of England and Bordeaux then came under English control). We call at Belle-Ile-en-Mer, with its 17th-century citadel built to defend French borders under Louis XIV. Held by British troops during the Seven Years War (1756-63), in more peaceful days its natural beauty inspired paintings by Claude Monet. We visit Guernsey Island, part of Great Britain but strong in French culture (including the Norman language). Docking next at St. Malo, we visit the stunningly beautiful abbey and fortress of Mont Saint-Michel, fortified in the twelfth century by Henry II as part of his French possessions and extended in gothic splendor in the thirteenth century.

We proceed to the beaches of Normandy, where our guest speaker Dwight David Eisenhower II, grandson of General and President Dwight D. Eisenhower, Supreme Commander of the Allied Forces during World War II, will accompany us. David Eisenhower, a professor at the University of Pennsylvania, will illuminate many aspects of the historic D-Day landings.

After we tour the beaches, we visit the cemeteries that honor the memory of the fallen, and the D-Day Museum or the Bayeux Tapestry. Our Vassar program includes two lecture-discussion sessions about participation of women in the US military during World War II and the impact of the war on women’s economic and civic status.

From St. Malo, we cross the Channel and sail up the Thames, passing the Thames Flood Control Barrier and Greenwich, docking at Tower Bridge.

My husband, Vassar astronomy professor Fred Chromey, joins us on this trip. If there are clear skies, he will lead a stargazing session. He’ll also share his knowledge of the moon and tides to explain the high waters that periodically surrounded Mont Saint-Michel and were part of its defenses; the role of tides in determining the date for the D-Day invasion; and the tidal surges that led to construction of the massive rotating gates of the River Thames Flood Barrier.

I am so looking forward to this stimulating week together and encourage you to make your plans early and reserve now while space and Early Booking Savings are available for this unique excursion.

Sincerely,

Molly Shanley

Molly Shanley is the Margaret Stiles Halleck Professor of Political Science emerita at Vassar College. She has taught courses and published extensively in political theory, women’s history, and aspects of family law (she currently writes about family formation, bioethics and reproductive technologies). Her expertise on women and gender will inform and enliven our consideration of women’s experiences in and contributions to World War II. Molly loves teaching and served as Director of Vassar’s Learning and Teaching Center. She teaches a course on social issues at Taconic Correctional Facility, a medium-security women’s prison in Bedford Hills, enrolling equal numbers of students from Vassar and Taconic CF. She received her B.A. from Wellesley College and her M.A. and Ph.D. from Harvard. Molly delights in singing in Cappella Festiva, a community chorus, and enjoys backpacking.
The Reigning Emblem of Western Europe

The fleur-de-lis, a stylized emblem of a lily flower said to signify perfection, light and life, has been recognized as a symbol of the French monarchy as far back as 1060. Its appearance in England began with the beguiling story of Eleanor of Aquitaine—one of the most powerful women in the history of Western Europe—who served almost consecutively as Queen of France then Queen of England for 50 years, married first to King Louis VII of France then to King Henry II of England. With her second marriage in 1154, the city of Bordeaux came under English rule, remaining a flourishing English port, rich from the wine trade, for 300 years. Many years later, the distant grandson of Queen Eleanor, King Edward III of England and rightful heir to the French throne, adopted the fleur-de-lis onto the English coat of arms when he declared himself King of France in 1340.

Today, traces of this interlaced history are found throughout the captivating ports we will visit. The fleur-de-lis appears on Bordeaux’s coat of arms, and the city motto “Seule la fleur-de-lys règne sur la lune, les vagues, le château et le lion” (the fleur-de-lis alone rules over the moon, the waves, the castle and the lion) suggests the power shift between France and England for hundreds of years. Found on the flags both of St. Malo and Belle-Île-en-Mer, and crowning the British monarchy’s gilded gates surrounding Buckingham Palace in London, the fleur-de-lis remains an eternal symbol of royalty associated with Western Europe that is recognized the world over.
Belle-Île-en-Mer
Tuesday, April 26
This afternoon, anchor at Belle-Île-en-Mer, France’s “Beautiful Island in the Sea,” off the coast of Brittany in the Bay of Biscay. Much of the island’s current population is descended from repatriated Acadian colonists who returned to France from Nova Scotia in the mid-18th century. See the charming island community of Le Palais and visit the 18th-century Citadel, a UNESCO World Heritage site built by the preeminent military architect, Sébastien Le Prestre de Vauban. Admire the unique beauty of the island’s stunning Côte Sauvage, which has inspired artists from the time of Romans and medieval monks to French Impressionist painter Claude Monet and author Alexandre Dumas in his adventures of The Three Musketeers.

Guernsey, Channel Islands, Great Britain
Wednesday, April 27
A British outpost located off the coast of France, Guernsey is a fascinating mosaic of fishing villages, greenhouses and fields dotted with its well-known chestnut-brown-and-white dairy cows. The island’s unique culture is a delightful amalgam of English tradition and French lifestyle.

Its capital, St. Peter Port, is an old Regency town distinguished by granite buildings and wrought-iron garden railings. French writer Victor Hugo lived here from 1855 until 1870 while he penned his epic novel, Les Misérables.

See the remnants of Germany’s 1940 to 1945 occupation of the Channel Islands, a launching point for invading Great Britain during World War II. Visit a historical vestige of the German Occupation and see Fort Hommet, the permanent fortifications constructed to keep a German foothold on Europe, during a scenic drive along the spectacular coastal road.

This evening, enjoy an exclusive onboard lecture by special guest lecturer and historian Dwight David Eisenhower II.

St. Malo, France, for Mont-St-Michel
Thursday, April 28
The UNESCO World Heritage site of Mont-St-Michel is one of the most awe-inspiring sights in all of France—its spectacular, soaring spires rise majestically from a tidal plain seemingly suspended above the sea. A pilgrimage site since the early eighth century, this fortified village began as a humble oratory and grew into an influential Benedictine monastery between the 12th and 13th centuries, becoming a renowned medieval center of learning. Experience the extraordinary beauty of its cloisters, refectory, stained-glass windows and... the Abbey du Mont-St-Michel, a three story Gothic masterpiece known as La Merveille (The Miracle) since the 12th century.

Caen for Normandy Beaches
Friday, April 29
Dock in Caen and travel through the bucolic countryside to the historic Normandy Beaches. In the company of Dwight David Eisenhower II, walk where Allied forces landed over 70 years ago under the direction of his world-renowned grandfather, Supreme Allied Commander, Dwight D. Eisenhower on June 6, 1944. Contemplate the solemn commemorative crosses and Stars of David in the American Military Cemetery at Colleville-sur-Mer overlooking Omaha Beach. And, envision the brave American rangers who scaled the 100-foot sheer cliffs to capture German gun emplacements at Pointe du Hoc.

Enjoy lunch with panoramic views of the Atlantic and continue to Arromanches to see the remnants of Mulberry Harbor, constructed by the British to support Allied landings on the beaches. Here, view exhibits chronicling the campaign at the D-Day Museum overlooking Gold Beach; alternatively, you may choose to see the famous 230-foot-long Bayeux Tapestry, a stunning visual chronicle of the Norman conquest of 1066.

Allied forces landed at the beaches of Normandy on June 6, 1944, launching the D-Day invasion.

Featured Guest Speaker

David Eisenhower

There can be no more fitting way to pay tribute to the Allied Forces, whose courageous D-Day invasion changed the course of World War II, than to walk on the historic beaches of Normandy liberated by American, Canadian and British forces. It is a privilege to have David Eisenhower, our expert historian who is personally familiar with one of the most powerful world leaders of the 20th century and World War II, present a dynamic lecture and accompany this profound visit to the beaches of Normandy.

DWIGHT DAVID EISENHOWER II, grandson of General and President Dwight D. Eisenhower, is a noted historian of World War II and the Cold War. His 900-page best seller, Eisenhower: At War 1943-1945, published in 1986, was a finalist for the Pulitzer Prize in history.

David is Senior Fellow of the Foreign Policy Research Institute and a Public Policy Fellow at the Annenberg School of Communication and the School of Arts and Sciences at the University of Pennsylvania, where he teaches “Communication and the Presidency.”

The Normandy Beaches

In a pivotal moment in the history and culture of Europe’s Atlantic coastal regions, on June 6, 1944, Supreme Allied Commander Dwight Eisenhower gave the order for 133,000 Allied troops to land along a 50-mile stretch of heavily-fortified French coastline. The invasion, known as Operation Overlord, was supported by 7000 ships and 11,000 aircraft, and by day’s end, had gained the Allies a foothold on the continent to begin their march to free Europe.

A portal to the region that altered the new world order, the beaches of Normandy bring history to life.
